WISCONSIN OUTSIDE | December 2023 - January 2024

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

As another fantastic and record-breaking year comes to a close, it is bittersweet to share that after more than four years of leading the Wisconsin Office of Outdoor Recreation, I've decided to step away from my director role as of December 15. Standing up Wisconsin's Office of Outdoor Recreation in my home state has truly made my heart sing, especially as we look back on all that we've accomplished together since the Office's inception in 2019.

In this role, I've been continually inspired by the work of partners across the state, and by your support and insights which led us to many "firsts:" the first-ever report on the economic impact of outdoor recreation in Wisconsin, the first business directory for Wisconsin's outdoor industry, the launch of the first Trail Report on TravelWisconsin.com, the first workforce attraction tool to leverage Wisconsin's outdoors and the cutting-edge outdoor recreation inventory and Wisconsin Explorer Tool.

Under the unique and valuable structure of the Office being housed within the Department of Tourism and the transformational leadership of Secretary Anne Sayers, the Office has been recognized nationally over the years including among my peers in the Outdoor Recreation Learning Network convened by the National Governors Association, recently at the Outdoor Economy Conference which showcased our economic impact report, and being named as one of the "Top 25 Most Extraordinary Minds” by the HSMAI Adrian Awards in 2021 (the “Oscars” of the travel industry). Most importantly, I am proud of the relationships we’ve built, and it has truly been an honor to serve and support you.

During this transition, I am pleased to announce Cassie Mordini will step in as interim director. Cassie was the first hire we made and, like me, has a passion for the outdoors, a background in the industry and delivers a high level of expertise in this work. I have every confidence she will be an exceptional leader, and the Office won’t miss a beat with Cassie at the helm. In fact, she will be supported by our newest team member, Taylar Foster, who comes to the Office with an impressive background in urban planning, event planning and communications. You can read more about Taylar in the welcome below.

The Department will plan to post the Director position soon, so stay tuned. In the interim, feel free to contact Cassie via email or at (608) 575-5240.

As I sign off, I’m reflecting on another incredible year for our industry. The new and historic figures from the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis (see more below) are a testament to the importance of the outdoors and the outdoor recreation economy to Wisconsin. Outdoor recreation is more than just a fun thing to do. It is big business, and it’s a solution for our local communities driving tourism, workforce attraction and retention, and providing quality of life benefits for our residents. Please accept my deep gratitude for your support and my admiration of your amazing work that continues to grow Wisconsin’s outdoor recreation economy.

I hope to see you on the trails.

Happy Trails,

Mary Monroe Brown
Director, Office of Outdoor Recreation

Outdoor Recreation: A Force for Wisconsin's Economy

Outdoor recreation continues to be a driving force for Wisconsin's economy, and the latest release of data from the Outdoor Recreation Satellite Account from the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) shows that it contributed a record-breaking $9.8 billion to the state's gross domestic product (GDP) in 2022, growing 6.8% over the previous record set in 2021.

It was the highest contribution by the outdoor recreation sector since 2018 when the BEA started measuring the industry's economic impact and releasing the figures annually. All topline metrics for the outdoor recreation industry in Wisconsin were record-breaking:

- $9.8 billion contributed to Wisconsin's GDP (up 6.8%)
- 2.5% of Wisconsin's GDP (up 0.1%)
- 94,042 jobs supported (up 3.6%)
- 3.1% of state employment (up 0.1%)
- $4.7 billion in employee compensation (up 5.3%)

Wisconsin's Motorcycling/ATVing sector contributes over $1 billion and ranks first among all states. The top contributing sectors by activity in Wisconsin's outdoor recreation are shown below.

Snowmobiling, which is included in the "Other Snow Activities" category, showed a whopping 72% growth in 2022. Given these figures measure value added, or GDP, the production of goods (and their cost) is often the greatest contributing factor to these calculations. Having manufacturing locations, such as the Polaris facility in Osceola which handles power train design and engine assembly for all their product lines for ATVs, UTVs and snowmobiles, makes a significant impact on these figures. However, participation can have an effect, as well, and can be measured by purchases made for services or gear. For example, the skiing and snowboarding category rebounded in 2021, and growth continued in 2022 with another 20.3% increase. And notably, travel and tourism, as well as local trips (trips less than 50 miles), associated with outdoor recreation grew to nearly $3 billion in 2022, increasing by 14.2% and 8.7%, respectively.

Nationally, the outdoor recreation industry posted record-breaking numbers, too. For the first time, the outdoor industry contributed more than $1 trillion in gross output to the U.S. economy, which accounted for 2.2% of the nation's GDP. It grew nearly 2.5 times faster than the U.S economy as a whole, at 4.8% versus just 1.9% for the U.S. economy. And nationwide, the industry employed nearly 5 million people.

"Our industry continues to provide benefits to communities across the country – big, small, urban and rural alike. We are thrilled to once again see the data reflect what we hear every day, that outdoor recreation is not a nice to have – but a necessity for healthy people, places and economies," said Jessica Turner, President of Outdoor Recreation Roundtable.

These historic figures reinforce the importance of the outdoors and the outdoor recreation economy to Wisconsin and the nation. To learn more about the wide-ranging impacts of outdoor recreation, visit our website or download the 2022 economic impact infographic here.

Wisconsin's outdoor recreation industry is an impressive combination of businesses, manufacturers, outfitters, guides, destinations and nonprofits. Each month, we share information about the industry so you can get to know your peers across the state and learn how each contributes to the collective success and diversity of the valued outdoor recreation industry in Wisconsin. Here are your December industry highlights:

Nonprofit: Willow Kinni Mountain Bike Club

- The Willow Kinni (WIKI) Mountain Bike Club plans, builds and maintains over 40 miles of year-round mountain bike trails at Willow River and Kinnickinnic state parks near Hudson. This volunteer and donation-powered club also helps maintain and groom ski trails.

Manufacturer: St. Croix Rod

- Headquartered in Park Falls since 1948, St. Croix Rod designs and manufactures fishing rods for freshwater, saltwater, fly and ice fishing. Each rod is crafted, assembled and tested by 32 pairs of hands. Today the family-run brand includes accessories and apparel.

Guides, Tours, Rentals: Mel's Trading Post

- Situated in downtown Rhinelander and operated by a lifelong resident, Mel's Trading Post offers bike, paddle sports, snowshoe and cross-country ski rentals. Visitors can get outdoor gear serviced and gather tips about silent sports activities in the Northwoods.

Retailer: Antigo Yamaha

- Motorcycles, UTVs, ATVs, snowmobiles and more are available at the showrooms at Antigo Yamaha and North Country Yamaha, which includes new and pre-owned Yamaha brands of outdoor sport vehicles. Service and fabrication are also available at both locations.

Destinations: Ariens Nordic Center

- Ariens Nordic Center in Brillion features 5 kilometers of lighted trails for cross-country skiing and winter fat biking, a 20-point Kurvinen Biathlon Target System, a robust snowmaking system and paved multi-use trails. The Center rents equipment, offers lessons and hosts special events.

Welcome Taylor!

Taylor joins the Office of Outdoor Recreation as the new Program & Outreach Specialist

The Office is pleased to introduce you to our newest team member, Taylor Foster. With a Bachelor of Science Degree in Political Science from Edgewood College and a Master of Science Degree in Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Taylor brings with her a wealth of knowledge and skills that will help the Office elevate our service to the industry. She most recently served as a Communications Specialist for the Wisconsin DNR, helping to promote the Wisconsin State Park System. She was also instrumental in the organization and launch of the OutWiGo Green event that welcomed over 1,800 participants to the park system to learn about outdoor recreation activities, organizations and more.

In her spare time, you'll find Taylor outside gardening, climbing or hiking. Taylor also serves as a board member for the Friends of Devil's Lake State Park and the Wisconsin Climbing Association.
